

Divine Adjuster

By K. Brendi Poppel

Divine Adjuster inside my mind
If I stop and look I always find you
Guiding me to my destiny
But O how blind I can sometimes be.

When I try to conform to some standardized norm
I lose sight of the light of divinity
Darkness reigns in my brain until once again
I listen within to the God in me.

If I choose to hear that critical voice and neglect to respect that higher choice
I compromise my connection and lose the chance
I must undergo correction before I advance.

Short sighted folly comes with a price
There are no shortcuts to Paradise
But wisdom comes with this dawning realization
To align my mind with the Divine is my destination.

And as I go within I begin to see
That every moment in time contains eternity
For I live in His presence
And my God Guide inside is happy when I decide to abide
In that sacred space of his holy peace
As I give God control my soul powers increase...

And I gain release from yesterday's sorrow
With the Lord as my shepherd I welcome tomorrow
And know I can face the challenges ahead
Because God is in command of me
And I'm delighted to be
So wonderfully led.

Copyright ©

All rights reserved by K. Brendi Poppel