

In This Silent Sanctuary

By K. Brendi Poppel

In this silent sanctuary
Where the world is at rest
We come before you giving thanks
That our lives are blessed...
We take so much for granted in the busy lives we lead
We all are on a mission
Determined to succeed...
But when we stop to let You in The peace can be sublime,
So often though, we hurry so
And haven't got the time...
But in this sacred moment
When all the world is still...
We come before you, asking only Lord, what is your will?
Give us strength and sustenance to face what lies ahead,
In your light our souls are nourished,
In your love our hearts are fed.
