

Indwelling You

By K. Brendi Poppel

Listen within and you will hear,
The unspoken word of God in your ear,
Fear not, my child, let yourself live in the light of his love, Go forth and give....
The truth of yourself, share from the heart,
Connect with the world, for you play a part...
In the infinite unfolding of the heavenly plan,
Live your true purpose, serve God and serve man.

For this is his gift to those who would receive,
Lift up in faith, never cease to believe,
That there is a God within and above,
Who blesses his children with his most holy love...
Let the pure light of love saturate your soul
Watch your fear disappear, Come alive and be whole....

Rise up in the Spirit! Be the star that you are,
Be an instrument of God's and you will go far...
To Paradise and beyond, live forever and shine,
For our Father has made us both human and divine.

In time you will learn and in eternity know...
More of the mystery, so go with God.... Go....
Forward today, make this world a better place,
Put love in your heart and a smile on your face.

You are brand new, let the light shine in you,
Reveal and reflect God in all that you do.
Be the resurrection of the Spirit inside,
Choose to be one, fuse with your Guide.

For he lives in us all as we live in the light,
Follow your calling, may your days be bright,
May your nights be warm and safe in his embrace,
We are never alone, be at home in time and space...
And fly through the universe, someday to find...
The same God who loves you indwelling your mind.

Copyright ©

All rights reserved by K. Brendi Poppel