

Mother Courage

By K. Brendi Poppel

Mother Courage, be not afraid
In times of tribulation, be not dismayed
The triumphs will come as the circles are attained
Seasons of summers follow storm clouds of rain.

And what lies ahead is the mystery to face
Trust in the Lord and grow in his grace
Cling not to the past, for yesterdays die
But sure as the new morn, reach to the sky
And stretch to the heavens
Vast galaxies on high
Upward and onward and inward – so try
To shed the old garment, leave it behind
The Father of Forever is our future – so find

The pathway beyond, full of wonder and glory
The home of the brave is our savior's story
And as we break through and gain greater ground
We delight in his love, In his love we are found
And forever bound for far distant shores
Growing in love evermore, forevermore ...

Copyright ©

All rights reserved by K. Brendi Poppel