

Every Ending is a New Beginning

By K. Brendi Poppel

Every ending is a new beginning
on an endless adventure through time and space.
The world is in motion
whirling spinning in meticulous order each moment in place

Day follows night as winter turns to spring.
The swallows return the meadow larks sing
everything goes according to plan
but this is not the work of man.

While we may be clever and we may grow wise,
the universe is greater than mere man can devise.
We discern the pattern,
we may see the thread,
but spirit guides the hand of man we are divinely led.
To understand the nature of reality,
and what is not revealed in time will be in eternity.

Every ending is a new beginning.
The future unfolds to dazzle our eyes.
The morning is bright with golden pink light
of promise on the horizon about to arise,

so we awaken and behold this beautiful day,
from the dark dream of sleep came a glorious light.
Be born every morning spiritually refreshed,
from yesterday's death on the cover of night.
A new view is now gracing the Earth,
every cell in your body is singing,
How vibrant you are alive with the birth of the new day and wonder it's bringing.
